From the Leiden Gazette, dated April 5.

Rome, March 17.

THE Pope is not yet perfectly recover'd of the Swelling in his Legs, and takes some Medicine or other daily. Mean time he gives constant Application to Business, and is particularly solicitous how to remove the War out of Italy, and reestablish Peace between the Potentates of his Religion who are at Variance. He has held several Congregations on that Subject; And on Monday last one to consult of Means to hinder the Parties both of the Imperialists and French, from making any more Excursions into the Bolognese. It was propos'd for this Purpose to order a Line to be drawn on the Frontiers of the Ecclesiastical State, bordering on the Mirandolan and the Modenese; Since which a Letter has been sent to Count Paoluci who commands on that Side, to know whether such a Project be feasible, and what would be the Charge of it. The Pope has sent Signior d'Aste his Commissary of War, and Collonel Casuti his chief Ingenier, to view the Fortifications of Civita Vecchia and put them into a good State of Defence. The Cardinal de Fourbin and the Duke d'Uzeda have desir'd leave of His Holyness for buying 6000 Sacks of Corn in the Ecclesiastical State, for the Use of the Armies of the Kings of France and Spain; but he has excus'd himself from granting it, because 'tis like to be a bad Harvest in Italy. Monsieur de Lionne titular Bishop of China, is arriv'd here, to give an Account to the Pope and the Tribunal of the Inquisition, of the State of Affairs in that Country relating to the Worship and Doctrine of the Jesuits. The Vines and Fruit-Trees in the Neighbourhood of this City, are spoil'd by the excessive Cold, and deep Snows that have fallen in these Parts.

They write from Leghorne of the 17th of March, that a Person is arriv'd there to reside in Quality of the Emperor's Consul. The Great Duke has given Order for putting Leghorn into a fit State of Defence: being resolv'd to observe the Neutrality. The extreme Cold mention'd in the Letters from Rome, has been felt at Leghorn; and a great deal of Snow has fallen on the Hills near that City.

From Venice of the 23d of March, 'tis advis'd, that Signior Lorenzo Tiepolo is set forward on his Embassy to the Court of France; and that Signior Delfino will shortly go Ambassador to the Emperor. The Republick has order'd the Fortifications of the Lido to be carried on with all Diligence, as also those of the Towns in the Terra Firma; whither a certain Number of Bombardiers and Gunners are to be sent. The last Convoy that sail'd from Venice for the Levant, was dispers'd by a Storm among the Islands of Dalmatia. The Ship in which was the Chevalier Justiniani Ambassador from the Republick to the Port, with 4 others was driven into Ancona, where the Ambassador landed, and accompanied by several Persons of Quality, went to the House of our Lady at Loretto, to thank the Virgin for his Deliverance, whence he return'd to Ancona and pursued his Voyage. There is no Advice of what is become of the rest of that Fleet.

Madrid, March 17. A Courier is arriv'd from the Consulate of Seville, with Dispatches from Don Diego de Mirandola, their Agent at this Court; who on the Receipt of them waited on His Majesty, to acquaint him that the said Consulate had resolv'd to give His Majesty the Disposition of the Income of several Millions for 5 Years, in the like Manner as the same was enjoy'd by the late King of Spain during the last War. The New Levies are carried on with so much Success throughout the Kingdom, that it is believ'd we shall soon have an Army of 30 or 40000 Men. The Province of Alva has offer'd to raise 500 Men for the King's Service, following the Example of several other Provinces. The King has conferr'd on Caprain Puert, who will raise and maintain 500 Men at his own Charge for one Year, several Titles of Honour, and the Post of a Major General. The new Fortifications of Cadiz are carry'd on vigorously. The Duke of Turfis has receiv'd Orders to get his Squadron of Galleys ready to put to Sea, to joyn those of France. The King has moderated the last Edict of the Council of Italy relating to the vending of Corn in the Mediterranean, his Majesty allowing the Genouese as well as the French to Traffick with his Subjects in the Mediterranean for Corn, with which the Genouese seem to be very well pleas'd. He likewise allow'd of the bringing in of Fish, &c. during Lent, from Portugal, because Madrid and other Cities of Spain were in great Want of such a Supply. The Revenues of the Grand Priory of Castille which were enjoy'd by Prince Charles of Lorraine, Brother to the Duke of that Name, are confiscated; because that Prince has furnish'd the Emperor with a Sum of Money. The Dutchess of Bracciano Princess of Ursini, is getting ready to leave Madrid and return to Rome, pursuant to the Orders sent her by the King of France. Two Dutch Vessels that was driven by Strefs of Weather into Vigo were seiz'd there.

Cologne, March 30. All the Troops of the Allies that are in this Electorate and the adjacent Country, have receiv'd new Orders to hold themselves ready to march on the 2d of April to the Rendezvous at Mulheim. The Bailywicks of the Dutchies of Bergues and Juliers have already begun to deliver Forrage at Mulheim for the Subsistence of the Cavalry. From Holland and the Country of Cleves Boats are arriv'd here with a vast Quantity of Oats, and much more is expected, as also Corn. The Allies intending to keep the Magazines for their Armies in this City. Here lye ready to be employ'd in the Siege of Bon, 200 little Mortars for throwing Grenadoes, as also 60000 Bombs, Boulets and Grenadoes, 1500 Quintals of Powder, &c. And we are assur'd that to reduce that Place the sooner, there will be Batteries rais'd against it of 100 Pieces of heavy Canon, and 50 Mortars for Bombs, besides those for Grenadoes. We have Advice that 10 or 12000 Prussians are in full March towards Mulheim.

Kin-

Kinsale, March 28. On the 26th the Dover and Monck Men of War sail'd hence with several Ships under their Convoy bound for England, &c. Among which is the Ourfell Frigate from New England laden with Turpentine and Logwood, which some time ago was taken by the French, and retaken by a Dutch Privateer; but were all forc'd to put back again by contrary Winds. And yesterday arriv'd here Her Majesty's Ship the Arundel from Dublin, with some small Merchant Ships from Cork, laden with Butter and Raw Hides, bound for Holland.

Falmouth, April 1. On the 30th past sail'd hence 3 Dutch Privateers a Cruising to the Westward; and yesterday arriv'd here the Mansbridge Packet-Boat who sail'd some days ago with two Mails for Lisbon, having been by a mistake chased back hither by a Dutch Privateer. And this day a Dutch Caper came in from Cruising without Purchase.

Cowes, April 3. Yesterday the Diligence of London brought in here the St. Paul of Cherbourg of 60 Tuns, who had on board 10 Cribs of Window-Glass, she was taken near la Hogue, the Men deserted her and made their escape in one of the Boats.

Harwich, April 3. Last night about 200 Sail of laden Colliers pass'd by here for the River; and this day sail'd hence above 30 light Ships to the Northward.

Deale, April 4. There are now in the Downes Her Majesty's Ships the Mary (on board which is Mr. Beaumont Rear Admiral of the Blue) Restoration, Berwick, Expedition, Coventry, Burlington, Oxford, Newcastle, Severn, Woolwich, Bonadventure, Guernsey, Sorlings and Milford, with upwards of 116 outward bound Merchant Ships, and above 100 Sail of Victuallers, Tenders, and Coasters.

London, April 6th. This day Her Majesty goes for Windsor, and is to return again on Thursday.
